Architect team turns Chefs for the weekend and take second prize!

ROUND ROCK, TX, April 12, 2010 — Taking a break from the business of the work week, KAHickman Architects and Interior Designers discovered hidden talents at the first annual Hutto Rotary BBQ Cook-off at the third annual Triple Crown PetFest & Expo. Of the tasty categories, team captain and head chef Chris Lewis with Braun & Butler Construction spearheaded the KAHickman team to second place in ribs and fourth in brisket. “There is nothing quite like sharing good food with community members after staying up all night to ensure just the right infusion of all the perfect flavors,” said Mike Vermeeren, KAHickman Project Leader. Jesus Valdez, CAD Technician, notes that even though it isn’t about winning in events like this, “It is always in times of working together that success comes. It’s fun to expand our workday teamwork to support the Austin Humane Society.”

This year’s PetFest & Expo raised over $5,000 for the Austin Humane Society. “Participating in community events cultivate growth and helps to preserve the things we love about our city,” said firm Principal, Keith A. Hickman. “It is a privilege to lead the talent at KAHickman Architects and Interior Designers. I feel proud to support our communities as a team together. Placing second in ribs and fourth in brisket makes our time together taste that much better.”
